LEASE RENEWED ON PACE BUILDING

C. & O. General Offices Will Stay There at Least Another Year.

Setting at rest at least for the present the question of the removal of the Chesapeake and Ohio general offices from Richmond to Cincinnati, President George W. Stevens gave out an interview in Cincinnati yesterday, stating that the lease on the Pace building at Eighth and Main Streets, in Richmond, had been renewed for one year, from the date of its expiration, as the lease has almost six months to run, the renewal carries the term forward until early in 1912. Heretofore the leases on the property have been for periods of three years.

President Stevens arrived in Cincinnati yesterday from a hurried trip to Detroit, Toledo and Columbus, and remained here for a few hours. He stated that he had just been over the Chesapeake and Ohio divisions, but denied that his trip had any importance so far as the publicity phase of it was concerned. When asked about the reported change of offices he stated that the management had decided upon remaining in Richmond until 1913, but said nothing as to the probability of a change later.

When told that the short renewal is considered strange, President Stevens said: "Oh, I don't know that it is; many roads lease their quarters by the year."

According to President Stevens, millions of dollars are to be spent in the fixing up of properties belonging to the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Will Make Large Outlay. "We expect to spend a great deal of money on the Hocking Valley in improvement," he said. "Just as soon as the Hocking Valley matter is taken out of the courts in Columbus, the plans which have already been matured for these improvements will be carried out."

It is understood that improvement of this property will consist in the betterment of terminals at Columbus and the laying of double track. In addition, the roadbeds is to be repaired and the rolling stock is to be rejuvenated, and several passenger cars will be purchased.

There were present among other officials, Oscar Axtell, first vice-president, Garrett B. Wall, assistant to President Stevens; General Manager E. W. Grice; Vice-President F. M. Whitaker; General Passenger Agent John D. Potts; J. P. Stevens, superintendent of the Kentucky Division; A. L. Ellett, general Western passenger agent; Thomas Curney, district passenger agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio of Indiana, and William Fitzgerald, assistant general freight agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio of Indiana.

BLUES' SOCIAL EVENT

Full Dress Battalion Drills to Be Held, With Dancing to Follow.

Battalion drills of a semi-regular nature will be frequent intervals during the autumn and winter months by the Richmond Light Infantry Blues. The drills will be held at the barracks, and will be arranged for a series of these affairs.

Full dress battalion drills will be given once a month, all the members of the command taking part. These drills will be in closed order. Following the drills, there will be a social evening in the drill hall at the army. Members of the battalion and of the Blues' Association will be permitted to bring their wives and sisters, and sweethearts, and, in fact, will be encouraged to do so, so as to make the affair an enjoyable one.

In addition, there will be a battalion drill in service uniform every two months. These will be in extended order, and will be strictly for work, with all social frills eliminated.

STATE'S BEST YEAR IN ROAD BUILDING

More Permanent Highway Than in Any Year in History of Virginia.

All records in road building in Virginia will be broken in this year of 1910, according to the State Highway Commissioner P. St. Julien Wilson yesterday. Although the cause of better highways did not fare so well as the cause of the last legislative session as some of its friends had hoped, it has become manifest that the good roads spirit has not weakened in the slightest, but grows stronger day by day.

The proposed big bond issues in Wise and Tazewell counties have recently received much attention in the newspapers. Now Scott, also in the Southwest, is waking up, and it is proposed to start a movement for a large issuance of bonds there to cover the county with improved highways. J. H. O'Connell, of Giles County, is particularly interesting himself in the matter.

Camping in Orange. For the purpose of launching a campaign for a bond issue of $100,000 in Taylor's Magisterial District, in Orange county, a good roads picnic and rally will be held at the county seat, on September 3. Unionville is in about the center of the county. Madison District, in which Orange County is located, voted $25,000 for good roads, and followed this up with another appropriation of the same amount. Now the Madison district proposes to double this record.

Speakers on this occasion will be Commissioner Wilson, Robert W. Wilson, of Suffolk, and others. The local committee in charge of the arrangements for the picnic is composed of Halsey C. C. Telford, G. F. E. Waugh, Dr. W. J. Crittenden and Jack Clark.

At a meeting of the good roads committee of the district, it was decided to recommend the following roads for permanent improvement: Everton to Madison District line, Blackbridge to Unionville, and to Lahore, Church Run to Monticello.

Meeting Friday. A good roads rally will be held at Appomattox on Friday, at which Mr. Wilson and Representative H. D. Flood will speak. This is for the general purpose of fostering the better roads spirit.

One of the most imposing good roads meetings of the year will be held in Roanoke county, on September 1, to mark the completion of a road from Roanoke to the Botetourt county line. This was built with the aid of contract labor from the Federal Government and the Norfolk and Western Railroad contributed perhaps half the cost. The railroad company built an overhead crossing above its tracks at a large expense.

Among the speakers on this occasion will be Commissioner Wilson, Mr. Flood, of the Norfolk and Western; Commissioner Wilson, Representatives Carter Glass and H. D. Flood and Commissioner of Agriculture Kolmer.

HOWITZERS "AT HOME"

Men and Women Friends Invited to Reception To-Morrow Night.

Many of the women relatives and friends of the Richmond Howitzers and of the Howitzers' Association will gather at the army on Eighth Street to-morrow night for a social affair, and the general public are invited to the athletic department. The guests will be entertained in the open space between the two buildings, which will be hung with Japanese lanterns. Refreshments will be served.

All of the guests will be shown around the barracks, and the Howitzers, which the men are taking a great deal of interest. While this is to be especially and officially ladies' night, many of the male friends of the Howitzers have been the recipients of invitations. Music will be provided.

Women Fined in Court. On a charge of disorderly conduct Mattie Raschke, Jennie Williams, Edna Reed, Joseph Williams and sister Mary yesterday fined $10 each and sent to jail for three days in the Police Court by Justice Crutchfield.

Reckless Drivers Fined. For recklessly driving a horse attached to a buggy, L. H. Jackson and Samuel Christian, colored, were yesterday fined $10 each in the Police Court by Justice Crutchfield.

Bijou Folk Want Old Thrills

Blaney, Miss Spooner and Jake Wells Coming Here to See Big Opening Monday Night.

Miss Cecil Spooner, the actress, who is Mrs. Chas. E. Blaney in private life, is coming to Richmond with her husband on Sunday to spend their vacation. Incidentally, they are anxious to know how the Richmond public will take "The Adventures of Polly," which is a Blaney production, in which Miss Spooner operated the sort piece. The play will be the opening attraction at the Bijou, which has given up vaudeville and moving pictures as a bad egg in that house at least. The Bijou likes its thrills in two or three acts; it didn't fancy the illustrated songs, the pictures and the quick turns, with an audience constantly moving in and out. The Bijou likes to concentrate its mind on a series of chronological thrills.

If that expression may be used, the Bijou is never so happy as when the hero is saved just at the moment when the villain is preparing to stab him. And then the Bijou likes musical comedy.

This year there is the promise of a really good comedy. There is to be more comedy than tragedy—more dancing girls than gun play. And the new standard productions will be put on this season for the Bijou folk—plays like "Paid in Full."

Jake Wells is coming along with Blaney and Miss Spooner. The latter has been put down for a little speech last week, and he will to heart talk with women at the matinee, although she denies that she will go into the monologue business like Laura Jean Libbey. There is not much chance of setting an oration out of him, but he will talk about the things that he can write, meanwhile, with his feet.

HIBERNIANS HOLD LARGE MEETING

Business Session Preceded by Solemn High Mass at St. Peter's.

MAYOR WELCOMES VISITORS

Delegates Entertained in Afternoon at Lakeside Park.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians of Virginia opened its annual convention yesterday morning at Murphy's Hotel, the business session being preceded by a solemn high mass at St. Peter's Church. Meeting in the adjoining hall to the convention proper is the Ladies' Auxiliary, on which more than 100 women are in attendance. The program includes many social features as well as the transaction of business of importance to the order.

Rev. Father Charles E. Donohue, State chaplain of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, Portsmouth, was the celebrant at the opening mass. The ceremony was officiated as deacon, and Rev. Father Joseph Magri as subdeacon.

A joint meeting was held of the Hibernians and Auxiliary in the banquet room at Murphy's. Thomas A. Reddin, of Richmond, county president, introduced Mayor D. C. Richardson, who delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city, in which he especially praised loyalty and patriotism, two of the watchwords in which the Ancient Order of Hibernians was founded.

When the lower branch met President Peters announced that since the body had no authority to discharge a committee from further consideration of a paper with which it had finished, and which was the property of the order, he would reserve the right to take action at the former meeting relating to expenditures in the annexed territory had been null and void, and that on advice of the Assistant City Attorney he had instructed the committee to omit the whole of the proceedings to the record. Councilman Mills who had made the motion to discharge the committee, protested vehemently against expunging the matter from the record, claiming that the body had authority to do so. The committee, and that his motion to adopt the Fairmont item should have been considered as a separate joint resolution, without reference to any previous papers. The discussion as to procedure was general and continued until, in order, Captain Mills withdrew certain remarks made in the heat of the debate as to "tyrannical rulings," and declined to appeal to the body from the decision of the chair.

Later the members of the Committee on Apportionment of the Funds in the Annexed Territory were excused from further attendance, and retired to a committee room where a meeting was held. The paper, submitted by the Board of Aldermen, together with an amendment offered by Alderman Mitchell, transferring the item from Broad Street Road to West Main Street, was considered, and the committee recommended to the Board the rejection of the amendment, and the adoption of the paper as originally drafted.

Board of Aldermen Concurs. A half-hour later the Board of Aldermen met in its final session, and the committee met in the Board room, and reported in due time. The measure had been adopted by the Common Council May 2, and should be concurred in. Alderman Mitchell renewed his amendment to transfer the fund from Broad Street to West Main Street, in his opinion, since the amendment would have the effect of making the whole appropriation so far as this Council is concerned, he had but little support. Mr. Mitchell held that the improvement of Broad Street was merely for the benefit of the automobile, and that the benefit of the improvement of West Main Street would be to the benefit of the automobile, and that the benefit of the improvement of West Main Street would be to the benefit of the automobile.

Measures, Adams and Gilman supported the Broad Street item; the Mitchell amendment was lost, and the ordinance amended in 15 to 1, Mr. Mitchell being the only negative.

Both branches of the Council reached their final adjournment, and the joint session and heard the minutes read, and adjourned sine die. The new Council will organize September 1.

A feature of the meeting of the lower branch was the presentation by Councilman Hickey of a handsome silver loving cup to President R. Lee Peters.

Huber said that he had served four terms, during three of which his ward had furnished the presiding officer of the lower branch. He highly respected and expressing his appreciation of the action of his colleagues and of the friendly spirit shown by the delegation from his own ward.

Mr. Barber, of Madison Ward, expressed his personal regrets at not being a member of the Council, in which he has served for four years, and in which he had formed many pleasant associations. BROAD STREET LONG FIGHT Tangle Over Annexed Territory Fund Unraveled at Last.

LOVING CUP FOR PETERS

Huber Makes Presentation on Behalf of Henry Ward Delegation.

Meetings of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council were held last night to unravel the tangle into which the ordinance appropriating $57,000 for improvement of streets in the annexed territory had wound itself. As a result the measure was concurred in as originally recommended by the Committee on Apportionment of Funds in the Annexed Territory, and will to-day be presented to the Mayor for his approval. It appropriates $4,000 for grading and graveling streets in Fairmont, and $4,700 for improvement of Broad Street Road, west of the Boulevard to the new city limits.

A somewhat amusing feature of the tangle is that the Common Council at a special meeting last week, debated the measure for more than an hour; rejected several amendments; considered the whole of the proceedings, and then adopted the measure for Broad Street Road, only to find out afterwards that the whole paper had been adopted by the Common Council in May, and had been referred to a committee by the Board of Aldermen.

When the lower branch met President Peters announced that since the body had no authority to discharge a committee from further consideration of a paper with which it had finished, and which was the property of the order, he would reserve the right to take action at the former meeting relating to expenditures in the annexed territory had been null and void, and that on advice of the Assistant City Attorney he had instructed the committee to omit the whole of the proceedings to the record. GENERAL MUNFORD SUCCEEDS DANIEL Appointed Chairman of History Committee of Grand Camp.

FEWER SPONSORS PLANNED

Number Limited to Eleven, With One Maid—Orders to Camps.

General Thomas T. Munford has been appointed chairman of the history committee of the Grand Camp of Confederate Veterans of Virginia, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Major John V. Daniel. This appointment has just been announced by General John C. Ewell, commander of the Grand Camp.

Changes are announced by General Ewell in the matter of sponsors and maids at the coming twenty-third annual meeting of the Grand Camp in Norfolk, to be held on October 15-20. The commander expresses the hope that each camp will send Camp delegation, and that as many comrades as possible will be present.

Among those mentioned who have been sponsors during the past year are Hugh R. Smith, of Petersburg, adjutant of the Twelfth Virginia Infantry, and one of the past commanders, and Major John W. Daniel, for years chairman of the history committee. "Heroes all," the commander says, "whether officers or privates, because they were true to the cause and stood four-square with their fellowmen."

Adjutants of camps are asked to at once make their returns to the adjutant-general and remit the dues of their camps to Major D. B. Brown, Jr., quartermaster-general, Richmond. Attention is called to article 8, section 1, of the constitution, which provides that each of the camps composing the Grand Camp shall be assessed and pay 10 cents per member annually to defray the expenses of the Grand Camp, and that no camp shall be entitled to representation at any meeting of the Grand Camp unless its assessment has been paid to the quartermaster-general or other proper officers prior to or at said meeting.

In addition to this requirement, the Grand Camp adopted a resolution at the meeting at Lynchburg in 1903, as follows: "Your committee on credentials would respectfully suggest that the various camps of Virginia be required to remit their dues to the adjutant-general, and that a copy of this resolution be sent by the adjutant-general to each of the camps of Virginia, requesting payment of annual dues sixty days before the meeting of the Grand Camp."

Having adopted this resolution, comments General Ewell, "It is your duty to see that it is executed; but in your reports to the adjutant-general, the quartermaster-general, the inspector-general and his assistants, by delay or neglect, requires it. These officers, with one exception, give the services to the Grand Camp, the one excepted being poorly compensated for the work performed, and the others impose upon them the duty of making reports immediately preceding and during the meeting of the Grand Camp. It is your duty to see that they do so, and to urge upon them by neglect or delay, and send in your reports and pay your dues to the adjutant-general, and not later than the first day of October."
